- <sup>1</sup> Dispenser: indicate which dispenser is being tested (for example 1-2, 3-4, 4-5, etc.)
- <sup>2</sup> Vapor flow meter serial number: There must be one flow meter per dispenser.
- <sup>4</sup> V/L value per Exhibit 5: V/L reading for a fueling point at the dispenser obtained from Exhibit 5 of VR-202-X or an ARB approved equivalent test method.
- <sup>5</sup> V/L difference: if the ISD console V/L value is within  $\pm 0.15$  of the V/L value obtained from Exhibit 5 (i.e. V/L difference is  $\pm 0.15$ ), the vapor flow meter in that dispenser passes the operability test. Go to the next dispenser and repeat the procedure.
- <sup>6</sup> Average V/L values from the ISD console: if the V/L difference is greater than  $\pm 0.15$ , run two (2) more V/L tests per Exhibit 5 and access the contemporaneous V/L values from the ISD console. Document the calculated average for the V/L values from the ISD Console for the two additional tests with the original test (total of three values).
- <sup>7</sup> Average V/L values per Exhibit 5: document the calculated average for the V/L values obtained from conducting Exhibit 5 two additional times with the original test (total of three (3) values).
- <sup>8</sup> V/L difference of average values: average ISD V/L values minus average V/L values per Exhibit 5.
- <sup>9</sup> Pass/Fail: If the average ISD V/L value is within  $\pm 0.15$  of the average of the V/L results, the vapor flow meter in that dispenser passes the operability test. If the average difference is greater than  $\pm 0.15$  then the vapor flow meter failed the test.
- <sup>10</sup> The pressure sensor shall be calibrated if the initial vapor containment area pressure is not within  $\pm 0.20$ " W.C. (refer to Fig.3).
