

From: Hans Haas
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 1:48:38 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Hans Haas

Valley Center 92082

From: Monique and Markus Meier
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Friday, July 31, 2015 2:06:16 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Monique and Markus Meier

Vista 92084

From: angel Hall
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Friday, July 31, 2015 1:02:40 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

angel Hall

valley center 92082

From: BARBARA combs
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 2:58:00 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

BARBARA combs

VALLEY CENTER 92082

From: Linda Linaker
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 2:43:36 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Linda Linaker

Valley Center 92082

From: John Linaker
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 2:42:21 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

John Linaker

Valley Center 92082

From: Sarah Mason
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 2:38:38 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Sarah Mason

Temecula 92591

From: Kevin Kellar
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 1:29:28 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Kevin Kellar

Pauma Valley 92061

From: Dean Key
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 8:38:18 AM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Dean Key

Valley Center 92082

From: Laurie Key
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 8:37:26 AM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Laurie Key

Valley Center 92082

From: Cecil Stockton
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 7:58:34 AM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Cecil Stockton

Valley Center 92082

From: Donna Biksacky
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 7:36:16 AM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Donna Biksacky

San Marcos 92069

From: lisa.happe
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Thursday, July 30, 2015 12:35:32 AM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

lisa happe

valley center

From: Ron and Laura Kohl
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 8:38:39 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Ron and Laura Kohl

San Marcos 92069

From: Sandra Zelasko Sandra
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 8:26:59 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Sandra Zelasko Sandra

Valley Center 92082

From: Alani Diamond
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 8:25:08 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Alani Diamond

Valley Center 92082

From: Kimberly Johnston
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 8:09:35 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Johnston

Valley Center 92082

From: Cheryl Vance
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 5:39:40 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Vance

Valley 2082

From: Ashly Mellor
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 5:06:38 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Ashly Mellor

Valley Center, CA 92082

From: Virginia Armbrust
To: Fitzpatrick, Lisa
Subject: Save Our San Diego Countryside
Date: Wednesday, July 29, 2015 3:54:52 PM

---

To the San Diego Planning Commissioners:

Lilac Hills Tanch Project is not a good project for our community.

I am writing to respectfully ask you to deny the Lilac Hills Ranch project for the following reasons:

We do not need this housing. The 2011 General Plan accommodates 72,683 new dwellings. In Valley Center alone, the plan calls for 6,400 new dwellings, between 2,500-3,000 of these at Village densities where housing will be priced in the $300K-$500K range.

We should not build village densities in rural places. San Diego County spent 13 years and $18.6 million to develop a General Plan that accommodates significant growth while still protecting open space, wildlife and agriculture in the unincorporated parts of the county. Areas designated for sparse development in the General Plan have rugged terrain, wildfire susceptibility, lack of infrastructure and are far from jobs and city services.

This project's severe and insurmountable problems with substandard roads, deficient fire and emergency response times, dangerously overburdened wildfire evacuation routes, urban water requirements that are 2.5 times greater than rural uses, destruction of protected waterways, and the taking of private land from families who are unwilling to sell are all a result of its rural location.

Please represent the thousands of business and property owners, developers, and residents who reached agreement in the General Plan Update. Respect the Smart Growth principles that undergird the General Plan.

Build village densities in established Villages. DENY General Plan Amendments that drop urban islands into rural places.

Sincerely,

Virginia Armbrust

Cardiff by the Sea 92007