

December 17, 2008 – Welcome to the new College Connections!

Hey college students, welcome to our newly updated College Connections page! We are very excited about launching this new and improved page. It has been designed in a way to help you get connected with us, the County of San Diego.

Let's jump right into page navigation. Click on the College Connections link on the left-hand side menu. The links that pop up below it will direct you to the new pages that were recently added to College Connections. The new links include the Blog Archives (in the future, it will include all blogs organized by month and year), Campus Events to let you know when we are going to be on campus to meet all of you, How to Use Your Degree, and Career Paths to show how you can grow in the County.

If you have not graduated yet and are currently a full-time student, the next link is for you! The Student Worker/Internship page will provide you with more information regarding the Student Worker Program including how to apply. Read the application directions carefully, and if you are itching for more information, the Student Worker Guidelines are also available in PDF form.

There are still some more useful links such as Job Postings and Job Descriptions & Salaries. You might want to add these links to your web browser "Favorites". The Job Postings link will take you to the page where all the job-posting magic happens. New jobs are posted a few times a week, so there is always something new to see. If you would like more specific information regarding the job you're thinking of applying for, that's where the job descriptions and (most importantly) salaries will be of great use.

That's all for now. Until next time, enjoy the new features!
