

Alicia Doty Henn is a science fiction author and editor of “2034: Writing Rochester’s Futures”. She is also a founding member of The Rochester Ink Posse, and Founder and President of the Rochester Speculative Literature Association, Inc. (r-spec.org). She is a biomedical researcher at the University of Rochester, working in the field of Immunology. She lives and writes in Rochester, New York, where she is tolerated by three cats, two kids, and one husband.