

Andrew Smith is the author of Ghost Medicine, a YALSA 2009 Best Book for Young Adults. In addition to writing, Smith teaches high school Advance Placement classes and coaches rugby. He lives with his family on a small ranch in the mountains of Southern California, where the nearest grocery store is twenty miles away. His 2009 release, in the path of falling objects, is his second novel, with two more titles on the way.