FOOD DISTRIBUTION AT BREWERIES AND URBAN WINERIES Frequently Asked Questions

Does my brewery or urban winery need a Health Permit from the Department of Environmental Health (DEH)? It depends...

- NO, if you sell or serve crackers, pretzels or pre-packaged food items that are non-perishable and do not exceed 25 sq. ft. The California Retail Food Code (CRFC) exempts this small level of food distribution.
- YES, if you sell or serve crackers, pretzels or prepackaged food that is non-perishable and exceeds 25 sq. ft. or sell or serve food that is perishable. The food service section of your establishment must meet all construction and equipment standards of the CRFC and be approved by DEH plan check.
- YES, if you are a Host Facility for Caterers. Your establishment must meet all construction and equipment standards of the CRFC and be approved by DEH plan check.

Can my customers bring in their own food or have food delivered from a permitted restaurant?

YES, with your permission, customers can bring in prepared food for their own consumption or order food and have it delivered to them at your brewery or urban winery (for example, pizza delivery).

Can I sell Cottage Food at my brewery or urban winery?

YES, permitted cottage food operators produce pre-packaged, non-perishable foods that can be sold at breweries and urban wineries. A health permit will be required for the Cottage Food Operator and your facility.

Are Temporary Food Vendors or Caterers allowed to sell food outside of my brewery or urban winery?

- Temporary Food Vendors are only allowed to operate at permitted community events in conjunction with a Temporary Event Organizer. A community event is defined as an event that is of civic, political, public, or educational nature as approved by the Department of Environmental Health.
- Caterers who meet the requirements of the CRFC for direct sales are permitted to operate at permitted Host Facilities serving food directly to tasting room customers during tasting room hours.

Are mobile food facilities (food trucks or food carts) allowed to sell food outside my brewery or urban winery?

YES, permitted mobile food facilities may operate on the private property at your establishment, or as allowed by local zoning and code ordinances. The mobile unit must display a current DEH permit sticker and a grade card. Vendors operating the units must have access to a commercial restroom during the time period they operate at your brewery.

How can I tell what kind of permit my vendor has?

You may request to see a copy of their health permit. The upper middle box on the permit tells you what type of food facility they are and you can find the expiration date at the top of the permit. See reverse page for sample permit.

Who can I call or email with questions?
