Hiram Sanchez
Paramedic — AMR San Diego

Steady When It Counts

After a difficult vehicle-versus-pedestrian call with a tragic outcome, Hiram returned to the job with the same calm, professional, positive presence his crews know him for — resilience that steadies patients and teammates alike.

Team Before Self

When a coworker faced a 72-hour shift with the middle day at another station, Hiram volunteered to work out of a station that wasn't his own so his teammate could stay home — no recognition asked for.

Why It Matters

Reliability, flexibility, and selflessness — Hiram reflects the culture of teamwork and patient-first care AMR works to foster across CSA 17 every day.
