Going to the emergency department is no one’s idea of a good time, but for older adults who may be frail or experiencing cognitive challenges, it can be an especially stressful experience. Fortunately, thanks to a public-private partnership involving non-profit West Health, the County of San Diego, and the region’s major health systems, the majority of the county’s emergency departments are focusing on the needs of seniors and will be seeking Geriatric Emergency Department Accreditation by 2021.

In September of 2019, at the request of Chairwoman Dianne Jacob, the Board of Supervisors approved the recommendation that the County of San Diego work with our partners on this important accreditation for the entire region. On December 9th, local healthcare leaders signed a pledge to join the San Diego Senior Emergency Care Initiative, a first-of-its-kind, public-private commitment by local health systems. The Initiative, funded with $700,000 in grants and support from the County of San Diego and nonprofit West Health, makes San Diego County poised to be the first county in the nation to offer accredited senior-friendly emergency care for older adults across the region.

Emergency departments that commit to becoming senior-friendly offer care that is tailored to the unique needs of the over-60 population, including those living with dementia. The physical environment may be modified to offer softer lighting, better access to restrooms, lower beds that are easier to get out of, access to walkers or other specialized equipment, and additional seating in rooms to accommodate family members and caregivers. In addition, new senior-specific protocols are added, such as assessing patients’ mobility and the effects of multiple medications that a patient may be taking.

Most importantly, staff receive special training to assess each patient’s needs beyond the acute issue that landed them in the emergency department. Staff ensure that necessary services, such as transportation, are in place to allow patients to attend follow-up medical appointments. They also determine if other basic needs are being met, such as nutritional and social needs.

The extra level of care makes for a better experience for patients and helps support their recovery. Initial research from UC San Diego Health, the first local health system to receive accreditation at their Gary and Mary West Senior Emergency Care Unit, found that senior-specific emergency care resulted in a 12 percent decrease in the risk of a patient coming back to the emergency department within 30 days and a 20 percent decrease in their rate of hospital admission. These outcomes, in addition to supporting patients and caregivers to have a better quality of life, also reduce healthcare costs.

West Health has been a primary driver of emergency department accreditation nationwide, and the local effort has been spearheaded by Chairwoman Jacob, with support from West Health. Dr. Kelly Ko, Director of Clinical Research at West Health, notes that the San Diego region is well-positioned to be a leader in senior emergency care due to many local community organizations and resources, West Health’s expertise, and the commitment of the County to plan for the needs of older adults. The Aging Roadmap, our region’s vision and framework for supporting healthy aging, places an emphasis on supporting hospitals to achieve Geriatric Emergency Department Accreditation.

Perhaps what is most remarkable is that all of the major health systems are coming together to share information, best practices, and strategies to improve care in our region. Dr. Ko explains, “All of the major health systems have really embraced this and are asking, ‘how do we as a community serve the needs of seniors better?’” He adds, “We are leading the way as a county and serve as an example for the country. No one else is doing this at this level.”

So, while a trip to the emergency room will never be a walk in the park, older adults in our region can expect to receive top-notch care that is tailored to their needs and will help support them to get and stay well.

If you are registered as nonpartisan, also known as “independent” or “no party preference,” your March 3, 2020 primary ballot will not list the presidential primary contest and candidates. There are over 550,000 voters in San Diego County registered as nonpartisan. However, nonpartisan voters can take steps to vote for a presidential candidate in the primary, as outlined below.

The American Independent Party, Democratic Party, and Libertarian Party are allowing nonpartisan voters to take part in their presidential primary elections. Nonpartisan voters can request one of these three parties’ ballots and vote for that party’s presidential primary candidate. Selecting one of these three parties’ ballots will not register you with that party – you will remain as a nonpartisan voter.

The Green Party, Peace and Freedom Party, and Republican Party have closed their presidential primary to nonpartisan voters. These parties are allowing only those registered with their parties to vote for their primary’s presidential candidates. Nonpartisan voters will not be able to select one of these ballots unless they re-register with that party. Re-register or register to vote before February 17, 2020.

No matter what your party preference is, all registered voters will be allowed to vote on nonpartisan contests and voter-nominated offices, such as U.S. congressional offices and state legislative offices. The “top two” vote getters in voter-nominated contests will advance to the November general election. For more information, call (858) 565-5800 or visit www.sdvote.com.
SHORT-TERM VOLUNTEER ASSISTANCE NEEDED

The International Rescue Committee (IRC) is an agency that works with people whose lives and livelihoods have been shattered by conflict and disaster. IRC helps these people to survive, recover, and gain control of their future.

The San Diego chapter of IRC is currently looking for volunteers to provide FREE tax preparation services to refugees and low-to-moderate income families. No previous tax experience is necessary. If chosen as a volunteer, IRC will provide you with training that will certify you as a volunteer tax preparer. In addition to preparing taxes, you may also be able to connect potential clients with other International Rescue Committee resources when appropriate.

Volunteers must be proficient in spoken and written English (second language skills a plus – Spanish, Arabic, Farsi, or another refugee language). They must also be able to attend a full weekend of tax training in January 2020. After completing the training, volunteers must then pass the IRS certification exam. The volunteer commitment would last from January 2020 to April 15, 2020, with a minimum of 6-9 hours per week.

This is a great opportunity to help others while gaining skills in tax preparation. If you are interested in this or in other volunteer opportunities, contact Mary Anne Briggs at maryanne.briggs@sdcounty.ca.gov or (858) 495-5039.

VOLUNTEER OF THE MONTH

Dan Smoot, a Retired Senior Volunteer Patrol (RSVP) member of the El Cajon Police Department, is the volunteer of the month for December 2019. He was nominated by the El Cajon Police Department’s Volunteer Coordinator, Samantha Scheurn.

Dan is a very important part of the Volunteer Patrol at the El Cajon Police Department. He plays an instrumental role in assisting with recruitment in order to build the RSVP program. He attends many special events to hand out flyers to those who may be interested in the program.

Dan also comes in on weekends to take potential applicants on ride-alongs. This gives potential volunteers a clear and realistic picture of typical RSVP duties.

Dan is proactive in ensuring that the patrol team has the equipment that they may need while in the field. When the volunteers were issued new vehicles recently, he took it upon himself to purchase various items for the vehicles. Dan also identified the need for dashboard covers to prevent damage to the dashboards. He was able to have the covers donated and then placed them in the vehicles himself.

In addition, Dan regularly assists with inventory in the station’s property room. This help is much appreciated by the property room staff.

Dan’s professionalism and willingness to help anyone who asks is a great example for all staff and volunteers. His dedication and commitment to the El Cajon Police Department’s RSVP Program, as well as to the community, is commendable.

Thank you, Dan, for all that you do!
Smaart House, a purveyor of technology solutions that empower mature adults to live independently, is a proud Live Well San Diego partner. Founded in 2017, Smaart House is a local San Diego-based small business enterprise employing and empowering San Diegans to live fulfilling lives.

Many older adults prefer to age in place and live in familiar surroundings for as long as possible. However, issues with mobility, dementia and memory loss, failing sight and hearing, and loneliness may require people to receive extra support as they get older. Families are not always available to assist. Projected caregiver shortages are expected to exacerbate this situation further. Smart homes can help.

Creating Smart Home Environments

Recent innovations in technologies like artificial intelligence (AI) and the Internet of Things (IoT) are transforming the quality of life for older adults and providing societal benefits. Through networks of connected devices, sensors, and cognitive systems, Smaart House is enabling family members and caregivers to monitor the health and well-being of elderly people. Caregivers and social workers can remotely monitor an older population and be informed of events, activities, and behaviors which enable them to provide proactive care management.

Technology that Encourages Positive Social Behavior

Loneliness is an emerging problem that impacts many seniors. Smaart House installs digital voice assistants like Amazon Alexa and Google Home in senior communities to prompt and encourage social interaction. These voice assistants allow users to access their community’s activities calendar, hear the news, listen to their favorite music and audiobooks, and set reminders to take their medications. Maybe just as important, the device allows users to bond with each other over the cool new things they discover it can do.
