

SAFER SEX AND MPOX

TALK WITH YOUR PARTNER ABOUT ANY RECENT ILLNESS, POSSIBLE EXPOSURES TO MPOX, AND NEW OR UNEXPLAINED RASHES OR SORES.

How Do I Lower My Risk of Getting Mpox?

- Get vaccinated, if you are at risk for mpox.
- Avoid sharing items like towels, fetish gear, sex toys, and toothbrushes.
- Use clean bedding, towels, and clothing.
- Limit your number of partners to reduce your likelihood of exposure.
- Consider using condoms (latex or polyurethane), though condoms alone may not prevent all exposures, since the rash can occur on other parts of the body.
- Masturbate together without touching each other, or have virtual sex.
- Have sex with your clothes on, making sure areas where rash or sores are present are covered.
- Limit visits to spaces like back rooms, saunas, sex clubs, or private and public sex parties.

If You or Your Partner Have Rashes or Sores:

- Reach out to a healthcare provider to be examined.
- Take a break from sex (oral, anal, vaginal) and intimate contact (kissing, hugging, cuddling) and/or attending social gatherings.
- Isolate from others with whom you live.
- Wear a mask and cover rashes, if you need to be around others, including visit(s) with a healthcare provider.

If you think you have mpox, see your healthcare provider.
If you do not have a healthcare provider, call 2-1-1.
