

Who is Your Local CAHAN Coordinator?

HAN Coordinators are CAHAN's official administrators for a local network of contacts of a State department, local jurisdiction, or hospital. They are responsible for setting up contacts in the system, maintaining accurate contact records, and sending notifications according to state and local policies.

The local Lead HAN Coordinator must ensure that their organization or jurisdiction complies with State CAHAN policy. Please contact your local HAN Coordinator to request a CAHAN account.

Please contact the State CAHAN Team if you are a State government staff member who needs a CAHAN account.

For additional information, please contact your local
HAN Coordinator, the CAHAN
Helpdesk or a member of the

What is CAHAN?

The California Health Alert Network (CAHAN) is an Everbridge based disaster notification platform that connects federal, state, local, and tribal partners with important public health and medical alerts to support the active roles they play in emergency response.

CAHAN is designed to accommodate local response networks for sharing emergency alerting and preparedness information such as drills, disease treatment and prevention advisories, and communications that strengthen state and local emergency preparedness.

The nearly 30,000 participating CAHAN contacts include professionals working in public health, environmental health, emergency medical services, and healthcare allied services.
