

Good news! Changes to Medi-Cal asset rules mean more people can get coverage.

Asset limits have increased. A new law means there will be no asset limits starting in 2024.

If you apply for Medi-Cal in 2023:

- Medi-Cal will consider assets and income information as part of the application process.

- The current asset limit is $130,000 for one person.
- Each additional household member adds $65,000 to the asset limit. Up to 10 members can be in a household.

If you apply for Medi-Cal in 2024:

- Applications will not ask for asset information starting on January 1, 2024.
- Medi-Cal will consider income information but will not consider assets.

If you are thinking of applying for Medi-Cal, submit your application today.

- Even if you were recently denied coverage, the changes mean you may now be eligible.
