If families build more granny pads, will these "homes" be considered in the count needed for the additional low-income housing? Are they being considered today and does the community know what the county is seeking (# wise) for additional low value or low income housing? In other words, can the granny pad housing count offset the need for additional apartments or town homes or mixed use. Is there any low income housing incentives or tax credits?

We would LOVE .

- a bigger modern Boys & Girls Club.
- a tech Hub.
- a Veteran tiny Village Home.
- a way to make downtown businesses comply with a "Look and feel" of the community.
- walking trails.
