In early October, the County mailed a packet with the required transmittal documents and electronical files to the State Clearinghouse for the JVR Energy Park Draft EIR public review. After the close of the public review period noticed by the County, the County did not receive a letter from the State Clearinghouse. After contacting the Clearinghouse, the County learned the State did not have a record of the mailed packet and the Draft EIR was not been posted on the State's CEQAnet web portal. Thus, the County will be uploading the Draft EIR electronically to the State Clearinghouse website this week. The state agencies who previously submitted comments on the Draft EIR after receiving the County's noticing have been contacted to explain there have been no changes to the Project or the EIR and they do not need to resubmit their comments.
