Hi...just reading about SDGE efforts to prevent wildfires and how they're avoiding massive shutoffs... in article they said:

SDG&E is also piloting a mobile power station, a four-wheel drive vehicle with a 500kW set of lithium-ion batteries intended to help keep critical customers energized during a power shutoff. It will include charging ports for clean energy vehicles.

Is this something BayWa could look into providing for Jacumba?' Just trying to think outside of the box.
