Over the past decade the San Diego County BOS has tried everything in their power to make our rural areas irrelevant. The only thing standing in their way was Diane Jacob. Now that she has been replaced with a professional hack you are free to complete your goals. This new Redistricting plan splitting up district 2 and including high population centers in our new districts will now allow the BOS to build more solar farms, windmills and maybe even bring back the Indian toxic land fill to the back County. I know you will push this through. We do not have the political power to stop it like Borrego stopped the power line recently placed in the back country. May you all rot in Hell.
