Thank you for the opportunity to bring the following to your attention and consideration.

As a resident of Ramona, I have to say further division of the backcountry would negatively impact our emergency fire resources, commerce and small business development.

The backcountry communities of Ramona, Alpine, Lakeside and Borrego Springs (to name a few) have lasting relationships, shared interests and unique concerns that differ from urban communities.

In addition, the proposed division of geographically contiguous tribal communities that share resources with the backcountry would be disruptive.

Please examine these points in full before any decisions are made.

Sincerely,
