When determining the maps, It is important to make certain you group together East county rural communities of interest as they have been for decades. The communities of Santee, Lakeside, El Cajon, Alpine have been connected through businesses, chambers of commerce, schools and service organizations for many years. These communities are built on their connectivity and separating these communities would destructive to shared goals and values. These rural communities must also be represented by a member who lives in and understands the needs of the east county community. Please consider drawing maps that continue to maintain an east county community comprised of communities of interest like Santee, El Cajon, Lakeside, unincorporated areas of county like Apline and surrounding area.
