After reviewing the maps proposed, I note that the unincorporated communities are being separated from each other - and in most cases are even listed by name on the map. This is not acceptable. Much as your lack of foresight to include our community by name on the redistricting maps, you are failing to see how our communities share qualities and interests together that are NOT shared by the communities you are separating us into. By this stroke of your pen you are removing our voice from government. We are agricultural communities with ranchers and farmers blended in with small business trying to trade in agri-tourism, and peppered with families commuting or virtual commuting to jobs located far from home. As unincorporated communities, if the County government is not serving our needs, we have no other local government to turn to for options. We are captives of the County government and we require a united voice in order for our needs to be met. I insist that you extend your deadlines and go back to the drawing board with more sensitivity to the needs of the unincorporated subset of your population.
