Re: Ramona Community Planning Area

As the Independent Redistricting Commission works to adjust County District boundaries the Ramona Community Planning Group expects adherence to the Commission's stated goal to "Keep Communities Together."

The County of San Diego has determined that the Ramona Community Planning Area is a "community." The County's rationale and criteria for this determination is documented in Planning and Development Services resources: "Community and subregional plans, adopted as an integral part of the County of San Diego's General Plan, are policy plans specifically created to address the issues, characteristics, and visions of communities within the County. These distinct communities each have a distinct physical setting with a unique history, culture, character, life style, and identity. Community and subregional plans, thus provide a framework for addressing the critical issues and concerns that are unique to a community...."

Ramona is best served by remaining one, undivided community within a single County Supervisor District. As an unincorporated community we work closely with our County Supervisor to address and resolve community issues. A divided Ramona would unfairly burden the community with an unrealistic expectation that the community work with two County Supervisors and their staff to address our needs.

Thank you for keeping Ramona an undivided community in the County of San Diego.
