A preliminary viewing of the possible county voting districts indicates failures of the commission to follow their own principles involving impacts on Communities of Interest. Unfortunately, the rural agricultural communities of North County and rural East County will be negatively impacted by all of the proposed iterations of the re-districting. I see long, horizontal districts that connect rural residents with coastal residents. I see school districts and water districts that are divided. I see cultural communities divided.

The re-districting effort so far resembles an effort to divide constituencies not empower them.

I am asking that the redistricting commission abandon all current iterations of the proposal maps and start over. A sample principle of dividing the county up into vertical districts more accurately reflect cultural differences of County residents.
