Do not divide up the town of Ramona into two districts. It is one town, and the representation needs to be unified. The mapping proposed by the Redistricting Commission fails to account for the school district's zones. The school district my sons attended would be in a different district than where they live with the current mapping. It would also divide the water/reclamation plants that are under the Ramona Municipal Water District into two jurisdictions. We are one town.

Additional revisions to the draft maps are necessary to ensure the process is fair and equitable to rural and agricultural communities. The proposed mapping fails to account for the three distinct agricultural Communities of Interest (COI) located within the County of San Diego and must be updated to ensure these COIs are properly represented. San Diego County's three agricultural COIs are as follows:

North Inland Agricultural COI: The North Inland agricultural COI includes the communities of: Escondido, San Pasqual Valley, Valley Center, Rincon, Bonsall, Fallbrook, Pala, Pauma Valley, Rainbow, and Temecula/Temecula Valley Wine Country.

East County Agricultural COI: The East County agricultural COI includes the communities of: Poway, Ramona, SD Country Estates, Julian, Santee, Winter Gardens, El Cajon, Jamul, Alpine, Descanso, Pine Valley and everything east/south east of there to the county borders.

North Coastal Agricultural COI: The North Coastal agricultural COI includes the communities of: Carlsbad, Oceanside, Vista, San Marcos, and Camp Pendleton.

It is imperative the revised maps do not split unincorporated communities, agricultural communities or special districts, school districts and water districts covering rural areas. Agricultural communities are historically underrepresented in local decision making and the agricultural COIs require adequate representation in government decision making.
