Hello my name is Dored Mansour, And I am a member of the Chaldean community I've lived in Elcajon for more than 30 years. I appreciate your time and consideration regarding this matter. I am here to ask that you do not separate East County and it's cities. El cajon, Spring Valley, Rancho San Diego, jamul, and La Mesa have not only always been together as one district but also share the same common interests. My Chaldean community has always resided throughout East County and my community has thrived here due to the fact we share the same economic, social, and cultural interests. By separating any part of East County, we are breaking apart our community and our common interest. The common interests shared by East County cities do not line up with the interest of cities like San Diego. I will voice and I will representation will not be heard and will be taken away from us if we get put in with areas like North Park and Hillcrest. They are urban areas with a considerate population and we are rural areas. They will outnumber us and take away our voice. They will make the Chaldea community disappear.
