It is unconscionable that you will redistricting based on one community's needs alone. If the community of Carlsbad wants increased numbers of those who are skated fit increased service, simply want their city to be more representative of real California, one might suggest opening up housing opportunities and other incentives to accomplish greater " bakance."

Our communities have been entwined, connected, responsive to one another for many years. What is the incentive for Carlsbad to want our communities' diversity now when for years informal and formal connections and trust have been established within the current district. So now people want to mix up the population to achieve a wider balance ! Please leave our district as it is.
