Hello, I was born and raised in San Diego, I love my city and I love being a Chaldean American Catholic who is part of a beautiful country that believes in the values of local government and the principle of subsidiarity, giving the people the power and freedom to create and respond in charity to the needs of one's local community without unnecessary top down Government intervention. It is for this and many other reasons that I do not agree with the redistricting/mapping of El Cajon, Rancho San Diego and Spring Valley with such geographically distant and dissimilar communities such as Hillcrest and North Park. The dividing of our communities does not speak to the American ideal of "liberty and justice for all", nor is the artificial fusing together of communities without a democratic and organic process a part of what our forefathers set out to create in this "New Experiment" nor what our heroic ancestors died for when fleeing from totalitarian powers. I pray that you keep our community in common with their neighboring communities as we share our lives, schools, businesses and faith with many others in solidarity.

In Christ,

Sinan Salim
