District 5 Redistricting input

The current border between District 5 and District 3 has always seemed puzzling and convoluted to me, and has not reflected coherently the population clusters that should be grouped together. The five cities along Highway 78 (Oceanside, Carlsbad, Vista, San Marcos, and Escondido) have a lot in common, facing similar issues in economic and social systems such as jobs, schools, health care, and housing. They also share similar environmental issues and concerns. These issues affect these cities in similar ways, making them a coherent part of North County. Combining these cities in the 78 corridor in District 5 will create a more coherent and unified District.
