To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing about the proposed redistricting of San Diego County, specifically district 5. I am asking the commission to maintain a unified North County, represented by one County Supervisor.

I understand that the county needs to be divided into districts of equal population. If the boundary lines need to be redrawn to accomplish this, then so be it.

However, I have heard that some people are suggesting that North County be divided into three districts. I believe this is entirely unnecessary and would not serve the best interests of San Diegans.

It is my personal opinion that the addition of new districts is unwarranted and would prove disruptive. I don't believe that the modest population growth we've experienced in the past decade warrants a jump from five to seven districts.

I humbly ask the commission to maintain consistency and keep San Diego County represented by five commissioners. Thank you very much for your consideration.
