Of course, North County should remain as one district. A few years ago I did an assessment of the arts (theater, music, dance, studio arts) in North County and sent the study to every city and other art community in North County. My study showed so many art organizations that the hope was a North County Art association would be formed. There appeared to be need for better publicity. Why should people need to travel to Orange County or San Diego proper when there is so much here.
