Cancer Resources Organized
County-Funded Information System Helps Cancer Patients Navigate Services

The Cancer Navigator program, championed by County Supervisors Dianne Jacob and Ron Roberts, is a Web-based system that has helped more than 5,000 local cancer patients and their families navigate the cancer care system.

"The Cancer Navigator is fulfilling the vision of bringing information together for San Diegans to help them find the resources they need," said Supervisor Jacob who officiated at the Navigator’s ribbon-cutting, along with Supervisor Roberts in February 2004.

Together the two Supervisors envisioned using tobacco-settlement dollars to design a Web-based clearinghouse of information to help San Diegans cope with cancer. "San Diegans now have a valuable tool that will help them avoid exhaustive searches, as well as a local call center to match them to services," said Supervisor Roberts.

The Cancer Navigator offers services for cancer patients, family members, caregivers, physicians, nurses and health care providers by linking them to local and national cancer resources and following up to ensure access to care.

One patient who used the Cancer Navigator found clinical trials available in San Diego and avoided traveling to Texas for treatment that would have cost $22,000.

Margie Keen, Analyst III with Medical Care Program Administration, negotiated and developed the contract with American Cancer Society to develop Cancer Navigator program and Kiarling Strahm, Analyst II monitors the contract.

The Navigator Web site can be accessed at www.cancernavigator.org and the call center can be reached at (866) 324-2628 toll free.

A Message from Jean Shepard
Agency Director

I strongly believe in sharing information that can help us do our jobs better. I find it important to get the perspective of frontline staff to get a better understanding of the "big picture," which leads to more effective decision making.

Sharing ideas means communicating, and the Agency’s commitment to communication starts with the County’s General Management System, and branches out in many directions, including meetings, training and of course, this newsletter.

The recent HHSA Connection reader survey gave you a chance to provide feedback and I appreciate the participation of everyone who sent back a completed survey. Please continue to contact your section editor with comments or questions, and I encourage everyone to continually share ideas and suggestions for improvement.

Got License?
New Agency Policy Goes Into Effect for Licensed Professionals

One of the greatest responsibilities we have as Agency employees is our duty to ensure we are providing high-quality and appropriate services to our clients, patients and residents in accordance with all applicable laws, rules, regulations, licensing requirements and funding guidelines.

In order to help meet this goal, the Agency has implemented Policy HHSA-M-3.4, “Employee Responsibility for Reporting Change in License Status.” This policy requires that all employees whose position requires them to possess and maintain a professional license as a condition of employment must immediately notify their supervisor if they are notified that their license has been revoked, suspended, placed on probation or if they are the subject of a license related investigation by any outside board, agency, or government authority. The policy also contains an explanation of the steps the supervisor must take in these situations.

All professionally licensed staff will be receiving a copy of this policy within the next 30 days. In the meantime, if you have any questions, or would like to receive an electronic copy of the policy, please e-mail the Compliance Office at Compliance.HHSA@sdcounty.ca.gov.

Revised Compliance Policies Now on Intranet
All HHSA compliance policies have been revised and are now posted on the Intranet in Section M of the Agency’s Manual of Policy and Procedures. Click here to view.

DIBBS Bragging Rights
A Message from East Region’s ADD

Pam Smith, AIS/East Region General Manager, and I would like to express our pride of and thanks to Vanessa Garcia, a public health nurse working for East Region's foster care nursing program. Vanessa submitted a DIBBS suggestion that became the best overall suggestion on safety for the entire year. The safety suggestion was for a rolling luggage scale carrier. All field public health nurses use a baby and/or child scale when out on home visits. Historically, the scale was carried in an over-the-shoulder bag that came with the scale, and typically held other tools such as a stethoscope, blood pressure cuff, measuring tape, Denver Developmental Kits...and whatever else might be needed during a home visit.

Instead of using the heavy bag (which can weigh up to 12 pounds), Vanessa suggested using a 22” rolling luggage bag to carry the scale and other tools. This suggestion took the burden of carrying items off the shoulder, and therefore prevents injury to the neck, shoulder, back, etc. Injury reduction also leads to reduced worker's comp claims...and makes it much easier to carry necessary home visiting tools.

Those of you who know Vanessa won't be surprised that she leveraged her Maximizer strength to advance the County's Work Safe - Stay Healthy initiative in a very meaningful way. Please join us in congratulating Vanessa.

Aging & Independence Services

Yes, Together We CAN Make a Difference

Call for Action-Oriented Partners to Aid Regions

Outreach & Education Team members for Aging & Independence Services have been building Community Action Networks (CANS) in their regions. These groups are action-oriented partnerships of professionals, volunteers, consumers and service providers interested in positively impacting the lives of older adults and persons with disabilities in their community.

Each action network has its unique focus, tailored to the need of the particular region. There may be subcommittees on such concerns as emergency preparedness, health care and housing. Action networks are always open for the ideas and energy of new participants.

A Community Action Network is forming to aid persons who live in the City of San Diego ZIP codes. A kickoff meeting will be held from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 28, at the City Heights Wellness Center, 4440 Wightman St., Suite 200, in San Diego. The group will meet regularly at the same time on the fourth Tuesday of each month; locations are yet to be determined. For more information and to RSVP, call Cathy Babin-Weil at (858) 505-6305; email cathy.babin@sdcounty.ca.gov.

Here are details on the other Community Action Networks:

North County Collaboratives Network meets at 2 p.m. on the fourth Tuesday of each month (no meeting in August) at the Vista Library, 700 Eucalyptus in Vista. One of the important issues being discussed now in the group is accessible transportation in North County. For more information on this network, contact Marty Dare, (760) 754-5945.

South County Action Network (SoCAN) meets from 8:45 to 10:30 a.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month (no meeting in July or December) at the AIS office in South Bay, 780 Bay Blvd., Chula Vista. The group now is targeting ways of getting older adults more engaged in their community, encouraging volunteerism. For more information about SoCAN, contact Anabel Kuykendall, (619) 476-6142.

East County Action Network (ECAN) meets from 1 to 3 p.m. on the third Wednesday of each month (no meeting in July) at the Wells Park Senior Center, 1153 E. Madison Ave., El Cajon. The group is currently working on a volunteer driver program to help with transportation needs. For more information, contact Kathy Holmes-Hardy, (619) 401-3994.
Youth and Binge Drinking Reduced at the Border
Innovative Program Addresses Alcohol-Related Problems

Underage and binge drinking by U.S. youth in Mexico is a serious issue for San Diego County citizens. Differences in alcohol policies - including drinking ages (18 in Mexico, 21 in the U.S.), and low-priced alcohol drinks and longer hours of alcohol sales in Mexico - contribute to significant public health and public safety problems on both sides of the international border.

Thousands of San Diego County teens and young adults (age 24 and below) travel to Tijuana for the primary purpose of drinking. Consequently, many return to the United States drunk, presenting significant risks to themselves and the public by increasing the potential for car crashes and alcohol-related violence.

The Border Youth- and Binge-Drinking Reduction Program is a binational effort to reduce cross-border teen and binge drinking in the San Diego-Tijuana region by changing policy and emphasizing prevention. The program, operated by the Institute for Public Strategies (IPS) under contract with the County's Health and Human Services Agency (Alcohol and Drug Services), mobilizes support for policy change primarily by the use of news-making efforts. The successful project was named a "Model Program" last year by the Federal Center for Substance Abuse Prevention.

Some of the Successes
In Mexico:
- Changes in "serving" practices
- Reduction of hours of operation among several bars

At the border:
- Increased I.D. checking.
- Coordinated sobriety checkpoints among all law-enforcement agencies during peak crossing periods, such as Spring Break.
- Procedures to ensure intoxicated persons receive medical attention and underage youth are held for parent pick-up.

In California:
- Media attention to alert parents and youth of the dangers of crossing into Mexico to drink.
- Passage of a State law prohibiting U.S.-based advertisers from distributing flyers, leaflets, and other material promoting Mexican bars with information that the legal drinking age in Mexico is 18.

Results
- 31% reduction in pedestrians under age 21 crossing into Mexico on weekend evenings.
- 36% reduction in pedestrian crossings by U.S. residents 18 years and older.
- 40% reduction in pedestrians under age 21 returning to America with measurable blood alcohol content (BAC).
- 9% reduction in pedestrians returning with blood alcohol content (BAC) higher than .08

The Border Program is a great example of how collaboration by governmental agencies on both sides of the international border can pay significant dividends in alcohol problem reduction.
Combating Child Obesity in San Diego County
It’s not just about looking like a magazine cover...

Childhood obesity is on the rise and alarming statistics emphasize the need for action to prevent this growing epidemic. Since 1980, the number of overweight children ages 6 to 11 has more than doubled, and the number has tripled for children ages 12 to 19 (Centers for Disease Control, 2002). In 2002, 20.4% of children ages 5-20 in San Diego County were overweight (PedNSS 2002). That same year with the support of County Supervisor Ron Roberts, the Coalition on Children and Weight San Diego (CCWSD) was born.

The CCWSD, facilitated by HHSA’s Office of Public Health, is a collaboration of health organizations, schools, community agencies and others working together to combat the rise of overweight children in San Diego County. Since its inception the CCWSD has grown to over 300 members and accomplished many activities. Here is just a sampling of CCWSD accomplishments:

- Developed School Board and PTA presentations to educate about the role parents and schools can play to reduce the prevalence of childhood obesity.
- Coordinated a Before/After-School Forum to address barriers and brainstorm solutions for improving nutrition and physical activity in after-school programs.
- Created many obesity prevention education materials and resources including a Web site and resource library.

If you are interested in joining the CCWSD or receiving information/resources on childhood obesity visit our Web site at www.ccwsd.net or contact Leah McClanahan at (619) 542-4041.

Public Health Services
Healthy Competition

Mental Health Services Enters 7 Managed Competitions

Managed Competition is underway for some Mental Health Services currently provided by County Staff, including Outpatient Clinics and Case Management.

- In a managed competition, a County proposal is evaluated along with proposals from the private sector.
- If the County’s proposal is selected as the result of a managed competition, the Request for Proposal (RFP) will be canceled, and County staff will be held accountable for meeting the performance levels and specifications of the County’s technical and cost proposals submitted in response to the RFP.
- If a private provider’s proposal is selected, County and provider will enter into a contract for services effective January 2005.

Process

Interested mental health stakeholders were encouraged to submit comments and suggestions to assist the County in finalizing the Statement of Work (SOW) for inclusion in an RFP.

- Public meetings were held where the County presented an overview of the draft SOW and stakeholders provided comments and suggestions. Written comments were also accepted.
- Technical libraries for each RFP are available to assist those making proposals. This "library" is a collection of data and resources (including Web sites) pertinent to the RFPs.

Eight RFPS

- Final RFPs for six Outpatient Clinics were tailored specifically for each geographic region: five Adult/Over Adult Mental Health outpatient clinics and one Children’s Mental Health clinic. Proposals for these RFPs were released in early July, and the proposals are being evaluated in September.
- Draft RFPs for Case Management and Psychiatric Emergency Response Team (PERT) were posted on the BuyNet on July 20. The County later withdrew the RFP for PERT. The Case Management deadline for proposals is 3 PM on October 7.

Child Welfare Services

Back to School with Love, and in Style

Mervyn’s Shopping Spree for Polinsky Kids

On Saturday August 7, twenty children ages 6 through 15 from the Polinsky Children’s Center were treated to a shopping spree at the Mervyn’s store on Mira Mesa Boulevard.

Accompanied by volunteers, Polinsky staff, social workers and Mervyn’s employees, each child was given an hour to spend $100 on new clothing, shoes, and accessories at discounted prices prior to the opening of the store. This was a joyful experience and a real treat to these children who were made to feel special and may not have had a lot of previous opportunities to receive all brand new items.

The dressing rooms were busy places and the kids were excellent shoppers and very grateful for both the attention as well as the new items. A delicious breakfast of wonderful pastries donated by the nearby Edelweiss Bakery and coffee donated by Starbucks for the volunteers followed, during which the children expressed their appreciation to the Mervyn’s staff. As the children were leaving, each received a new backpack filled with school supplies.

HHSA Child Welfare Services is grateful to Mervyn’s and the other donors as well as the volunteers and staff who made this such a special experience for our children.

This is but one example of the community support for the children served by the Polinsky Children’s Center as well as for the important work being done by HHSA Child Welfare Services Staff.
Mindy Ripley, facilities manager in North County, served as co-chair for the American Juvenile Arthritis Organization (AJAO) national conference in San Diego in July, serving about 300 families.

Ripley has been volunteering with the AJAO for 15 years and has received a letter of commendation for her involvement from Supervisor Bill Horn.

The organization is devoted to serving the special needs of children with childhood arthritis and their families.

On July 20, the North Inland Public Health Center received an "Outstanding Business Partner of the Year" award from the Escondido Education Compact, a local organization designed to provide youth with job readiness training and linkages to employment. The center, which regularly provides work experience to high school student volunteers, was recognized for its "extraordinary commitment to the youth in our community, by hosting student internships and providing career mentoring."

Terry Cunningham, Chief of the County Office of AIDS Coordination, was elected the President of the California Conference of Local AIDS Directors (CCLAD) for Fiscal Year 2004-2005. The group's next conference will be here in San Diego in November 2004 and will focus on Border Health issues. The group will tour Tijuana AIDS service organizations. This will be a great opportunity for AIDS directors in the 51 local health jurisdictions throughout California to see what is happening across the border and how it affects them.

HHSA Web Site Chock Full o’ Info
If you haven’t looked lately, the Agency’s web site offers lots of handy information. For example, services can be searched by community.
Each month, the HHSA Connection will feature the services of the Agency’s different divisions, to provide a broad overview of the Agency. This month, the series continues with Financial & Support Services Division - FSSD.

The Financial & Support Services Division provides budget, fiscal, and facilities services to Agency programs.

Administration
(619) 515-6742
The Agency Finance Director provides executive leadership and general management of the Agency’s financial affairs. The Finance Director represents the Agency on financial issues with other County groups and departments and acts as an extension of the County Chief Financial Officer (CFO) to carry out the CFO’s directives within the Health and Human Services Agency.

Budget
(619) 338-2981
The Budget Office works closely with managers and budget staff throughout the Agency to centrally coordinate the Agency’s budget development and monitoring. The Agency Budget Office coordinates or supports the following functions:

- Budget Preparation and Monitoring
- Budget Reports
- Budget Policies and Procedures
- Budget Training
- Board Letters
- Findings of Economy & Efficiency
- Legislative Review

Fiscal Services
(619) 338-2301
Fiscal Services provides payment and revenue claiming services for the Agency, including:

- Claims Preparation
  - County Welfare Expense Claim (quarterly)
  - Mental Health Short-Doyle Medi-Cal Claim (monthly)
- Claims Processing
  - Contractor Claims
  - Travel and Non-travel Claims
  - Child Support Payments
